

Electrical Requirements for Property Managers

Business owners and operators in all sectors play a critical role in ensuring workplace electrical safety and due diligence. In fact, it is the responsibility of business owners and property managers to ensure the health and safety of the public when on your premises.

All renovations, repairs and replacement work involving electrical need to be done in compliance with the Ontario Electrical Safety Code (Code).

Follow these four steps to help ensure you're in compliance:

A streamlined compliance option for your business

1 HIRE ONLY A LICENSED ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR (LEC)

If you or your tenants are hiring someone to do electrical work, they must be an LEC. Building superintendents, unlicensed electricians, general handymen and other service providers cannot do electrical work on your properties unless they hold an ECRA/ESA licence or are an employee of your property management company (on the payroll).

ESA's Continuous Safety Services (CSS)

compliance option offers property managers a streamlined notification, inspection and safety process to help your business run more efficiently. ESA works with diverse businesses to customize programs specific to their needs.

2 FOLLOW THE ONTARIO ELECTRICAL SAFETY CODE

Doing the work yourself? Property managers, tenants and building owners are legally allowed to do their own electrical work on their property. However they must follow the current edition of the Code.

3 FILE A NOTIFICATION OF WORK WITH ESA

Almost all electrical work requires a notification to the Electrical Safety Authority (ESA). An electrical notification needs to be taken out by the person or party doing the work before or within 48 hours of when the electrical work starts. To confirm notification requirements, call 1-877-ESA-SAFE (372-7233).

4 HAVE IT REVIEWED

You can request an inspection for an existing notification by calling the Customer Service Centre directly at 1-877-ESA-SAFE.
