DEFINITIONS

Designated Master Electrician (DME) – an individual who is licensed in accordance with the licensing regulation; Ontario Regulation 570/05 made under Part VIII of the Electricity Act; and who has accepted a designation by a Licensed Electrical Contractor to assume the responsibilities prescribed in the regulation for overseeing the electrical work carried out on behalf of the electrical contractor.

Director of Licensing – person(s) appointed by ESA as a Director, under subsection 113.1 of the Electricity Act, for the purposes of administering and ensuring compliance of the legislative and regulatory licensing requirements.

Electrical Contracting Business – a business that is engaged in the carrying out of electrical work.

Electrical Equipment – any apparatus, appliance, device, instrument, fitting fixture, machinery, material or thing used in or for, or capable of being used in or for, the generation, transformation, transmission, distribution, supply or utilization of electric power or energy, and, without restricting the generality of the foregoing, includes any assemblage or combination of materials or things which is used, or is capable of being used or adapted, to serve or perform any particular purpose or function when connected to an electrical installation, notwithstanding that any of such materials or things may be mechanical, metallic or non-electric in origin.

Electrical Installation – the installation of any wiring in or upon any land, building or premises from the point or points where electric power or energy can be supplied from any source to the point or points where such power or energy can be used in or on the land, building or premises by any electrical equipment, including the connection of any such wiring with any of that equipment, and any part of the wiring, and the maintenance, alteration, extension and repair of such wiring.

Electrical Work – work within the scope of the Ontario Electrical Safety Code that consists of constructing, installing, protecting, maintaining, repairing, extending, altering, connecting or disconnecting any electrical installation or electrical equipment.

Employ / Employee – in the licensing regulation the use of the terms “employ” and “employee” refers to the employer-employee relationship and not to an arrangement whereby a person engages an independent contractor to work on the person’s behalf.

Industrial Establishment – an office building, factory, arena, shop or office, and any land, buildings and structures appertaining thereto.

Licensed Electrical Contractor (LEC) – an individual or business that is licensed to operate an electrical contracting business in accordance with the licensing regulation; Ontario Regulation 570/05 made under Part VIII of the Electricity Act.

Master Electrician (ME) – an individual licensed in accordance with the licensing regulation; Ontario Regulation 570/05 made under Part VIII of the Electricity Act; who is permitted to assume the responsibilities prescribed in the regulation and accept a designation by a Licensed Electrical Contractor to oversee the electrical work being carried out on behalf of the electrical contractor.

Ontario Electrical Safety Code (OESC) – the Electrical Safety Code adopted by reference in section 1 of Ontario Regulation 164/99 (Electrical Safety Code) made under Part VIII of the Electricity Act.

1. INTRODUCTION TO PROVINCIAL LICENSING

ESA, on behalf of the Provincial Government, is responsible for administering the electrical contractor and Master Electrician licensing requirements in Ontario.

The licensing of electrical contractors and Master Electricians in the Province of Ontario is defined by Part VIII of the Electricity Act [Appendix B] and Ontario Regulation 570/05 (the “Regulation”) [Appendix C]. These provincial statutes can be viewed online at www.e-laws.gov.on.ca.

The Electrical Safety Authority (ESA) is an administrative authority acting on behalf of the Government of Ontario with specific responsibilities under the Electricity Act and the Safety and Consumer Statutes Administration Act. As part of its mandate, ESA is responsible for administering the provincial licensing requirements which include ensuring that Licensed Electrical Contractors and Master Electricians are in compliance with their obligations as licence holders.

The ECRA Advisory Council provides an important advisory role in support of the licensing system and is a key contributor in recommending and developing licensing guidelines and policies.

ESA is supported in this function by the Electrical Contractor Registration Agency (ECRA) Advisory Council which includes representatives from the electrical contracting industry, Licensed Electrical Contractors, Master Electricians, municipalities, consumers, and other ESA appointed representatives. ECRA provides an important advisory role in support of the licensing program through the development of the Master Electrician examination, and in developing and recommending guidelines and policies to strengthen the licensing of electrical contractors and Master Electricians in the province.

Unless exempted by the Regulation, any contracting business that offers or performs electrical work in Ontario must be licensed by ESA. Similarly, any person who plans on assuming the responsibilities established in the Regulation for overseeing the electrical work carried out on behalf of an electrical contractor must be licensed by ESA as a Master Electrician and be designated by the electrical contracting business.

The purpose of this Guideline is to assist businesses and individuals to understand and comply with their licensing obligations arising from the Act and Regulation.

1.1 ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

ESA gratefully acknowledges the contributions of current and past members of the ECRA Advisory Council in the development of this Guideline.

2. ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR (EC) LICENCE

2.1 ELECTRICAL CONTRACTING BUSINESSES MUST BE LICENSED

Unless exempted by the Regulation, every electrical contracting business engaged in or proposing to engage in the carrying out of electrical work governed by the Ontario Electrical Safety Code (OESC) is required to hold a valid electrical contractor licence issued by ESA. This requirement has been in effect since January 1, 2007.

Section 1 of the Regulation [page 64] defines an electrical contracting business as “a business that is engaged in the carrying out of electrical work,” and electrical work means “work within the scope of the Electrical Safety Code that consists of constructing, installing, protecting, maintaining, repairing, extending, altering, connecting or disconnecting any electrical installation or electrical equipment”.

2.2 EXEMPTIONS – WORK THAT DOES NOT REQUIRE A LICENCE

Some types of electrical work fall outside the scope of the Regulation and are thus exempt from the licensing requirements. It is the responsibility of the persons listed below to ensure that all electrical work is carried out in accordance with all applicable laws and with the understanding that some of the work listed below still requires an application for inspection (electrical permit) be

Every electrical contracting business engaged in or proposing to engage in the carrying out of electrical work that is governed by the OESC is required to hold a valid EC licence issued by ESA. Refer to subsection 113.2 (1) of the Act, [Appendix B] and section 3 of the Regulation, [page 66].

Individuals or companies performing electrical work without a licence as required, can be prosecuted pursuant to the Act and could be subject to penalties and fines.

filed with ESA and inspections requested in accordance with the requirements of the OESC, Rule 2-004.

As defined in section 2 of the Regulation [page 65], an EC Licence is not required by persons engaged in the following types of electrical work:

ORIGINAL EQUIPMENT MANUFACTURER

1. Work done on original equipment of a manufacturer if done by an employee or agent of the original equipment manufacturer who has been trained by the manufacturer to perform maintenance, service or repair on the equipment and if the work being done does not include extending or altering the equipment or installing, extending, altering or repairing any electrical wiring connected to that equipment.

INDUSTRIAL OR FARM ESTABLISHMENT WORK BY OWNER, OPERATOR, EMPLOYEE

2. Work done on equipment or electrical installations within an industrial establishment or on a farm if done by an owner, an operator or an employee of the owner or operator.

RESIDENTIAL WORK BY OWNER/OCCUPANT

3. Work done on electrical equipment or installations within a residential dwelling if done by an owner or occupant of the dwelling.

AUTHORIZED REFRIGERATION AND AIR CONDITIONING MECHANICS

4. Work done within the scope of practice for the trade of refrigeration and air conditioning systems mechanic or residential air conditioning systems mechanic by a person authorized under the Building Opportunities in the Skilled Trades Act, 2021 to practice the applicable trade.

AUTHORIZED SPRINKLER AND FIRE PROTECTION INSTALLER

5. Work done within the scope of practice for the trade of sprinkler and fire protection installer by a person authorized under the Building Opportunities in the Skilled Trades Act, 2021 to practice that trade.

If a business performs electrical work that is not specifically exempted from section 2 of the Regulation [page 65], the business is required to apply for and obtain an EC licence from ESA.

Information on the application and eligibility requirements for an EC licence can be found on ESA's website at www.esasafe.com/licensing or by calling ESA at 1-877-372-7233.

TSSA AUTHORIZED WORKERS

6. Work done on elevators and escalators by a person authorized to do such work under Ontario Regulation 209/01 (Elevating Devices) made under the Technical Standards and Safety Act, 2000 (TSSA).
7. Work done on electrical components of appliances by a person authorized to do such work under Ontario Regulation 210/01 (Oil and Gas Pipeline Systems), Ontario Regulation 211/01 (Propane Storage and Handling) and Ontario Regulation 215/01 (Fuel Industry Certificates) made under the Technical Standards and Safety Act, 2000 (TSSA).

MAINTENANCE, SERVICE OR REPAIR OF ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT NOT INVOLVING WIRING

8. Work done on electrical equipment that plugs into an electrical source if the work being done constitutes maintenance, service or repair of the equipment that does not include extending or altering the equipment or installing, extending, altering or repairing any electrical wiring connected to that equipment.

WORK AUTHORIZED UNDER ELECTRICAL DISTRIBUTION SAFETY REGULATION

9. Work done that falls within the scope of Ontario Regulation 22/04 (Electrical Distribution Safety) made under the Electricity Act, 1998.

WORK EXCLUDED BY RULE 2-000 OF THE OESC

10. Work done on any electrical equipment or electrical installation that is specifically excluded by Rule 2-000 of the Ontario Electrical Safety Code.

2.3 DUTIES OF A LICENSED ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR (LEC)

LECs have a number of duties and responsibilities that they must be aware of and integrate into their business operations. Failure to do so could result in the LEC being in breach of the legislation which could result in disciplinary action. Refer to section 5 of this Guideline [page 66] for more information on the reasons a licence may be refused, suspended or revoked.

Although section 2 of the Regulation [page 65] provides a licensing exemption for certain types of electrical installations, an electrical permit and inspection may still be required in accordance with the OESC Rule 02-004.

Two key duties established by section 4 of the Regulation [page 66]

require an LEC to ensure that:

- All electrical work is carried out in accordance with all applicable laws; and
- At least one Master Electrician is designated at all times to oversee the electrical work carried out on behalf of the business.

It is the LEC's duty to ensure that all electrical work is carried out in accordance with all applicable laws; and to ensure a Master Electrician is designated at all times to oversee the electrical work carried out on behalf of the electrical contracting business.

In addition to the LEC, the DME has a responsibility to also ensure electrical work is carried out in accordance with the OESC, and the laws relating to health and safety and consumer protection.

I) ENSURE ALL APPLICABLE LAWS ARE FOLLOWED

As licensed professionals, electrical contractors have a critical role to play in ensuring the safety of the public, consumers and employees. A number of laws in Ontario provide a framework to promote health and safety, as well as safe and fair business practices. Subsection 4(1) of the Regulation [page 66] requires LECs to ensure that all electrical work carried out on the contractor's behalf is carried out in accordance with all applicable laws; they include but are not limited to the following:

- Ontario Electrical Safety Code
- Electricity Act, Part VIII
- Ontario Regulation 570/05 (Licensing of Electrical Contractors and Master Electricians)
- Building Opportunities in the Skilled Trades Act, 2021 and associated regulations
- Workplace Safety and Insurance Act and associated regulations
- Occupational Health and Safety Act and associated regulations
- Employment Standards Act and associated regulations
- Consumer Protection Act and associated regulations
- Corporations Tax Act and applicable laws relating to business tax

These and other laws can be found online at www.e-laws.gov.on.ca.

While the LEC has a responsibility for ensuring that electrical work is being carried out in accordance with all applicable laws as noted above, subsection 6(b) of the Regulation [page 67] sets out that the DME has a responsibility on behalf of the electrical contractor for also ensuring that the electrical work is carried out in accordance with applicable laws, including the OESC, and the laws relating to health and safety and consumer protection.

Applicable laws include: the OESC, and laws relating to health and safety, employment standards, consumer protection, business tax and business practices.

Refer to subsection 3.2 of this Guideline [page 21] for more information on the responsibilities of a DME.

II) ENSURE A MASTER ELECTRICIAN (ME) IS DESIGNATED

The designation of a Master Electrician (ME) must be submitted at the time of applying for the EC licence or upon any changes of designation associated to a current EC licence. A Designated Master Electrician (DME) is required to complete an Acknowledgement of Responsibility form that asks the person to affirm that they meet the DME requirements and agree to assume the responsibilities of a DME on behalf of the designating electrical contractor. Refer to subsection 3.2 of this Guideline [page 21] for more information on the responsibilities of a DME.

Designation and change forms can be found on ESA's website at www.esasafe.com/licensing or by calling ESA at 1-877-372-7233.

MINIMUM OF ONE DME IS REQUIRED

Subsection 4(2) of the Regulation [page 66] requires an electrical contractor to designate at least one licensed ME who has been assigned the DME role and responsibility to oversee the carrying out of electrical work on behalf of the business; and to assume the responsibilities for personal planning, direct supervision, and ensuring compliance with the OESC, worker safety, consumer protection and other applicable laws. An electrical contractor may themselves be the DME if they also hold a valid ME licence, or they must employ at least one DME. Refer to subsection 3.2 of this Guideline [page 21] for more information on the responsibilities of a DME.

In the case of a sole proprietor or small electrical contracting business this generally means that the owner must be licensed as both the DME and the LEC.

MORE THAN ONE DME IS PERMITTED

Sometimes it may be prudent for an LEC to designate more than one ME. As the Regulation does not specifically prescribe when an LEC is required to have multiple DMEs, it is thus the LEC's responsibility to determine and be satisfied that the number of DMEs they have on staff is sufficient to fulfil the oversight responsibilities for the electrical work carried out on behalf of the business.

A LEC is required to have a minimum of one licensed DME designated to the business.

The LEC themselves may be the DME or they must employ at least one DME.

A LEC is permitted to have multiple DMEs.

The LEC is responsible to determine the appropriate number of DMEs the business requires.

The Regulation requires an LEC to keep records of the effective dates and the scope of all DME designations.

Refer to subsection 2.4 of this Guideline [page 15] for additional details on the requirements for maintaining records.

Examples of when employing and designating more than one DME may be appropriate:

The DME must hold a valid ME licence issued by ESA.

The DME must also be actively employed by the designating LEC and cannot act as the DME for more than one LEC at the same time.

- Where an LEC has multiple lines of business, they may choose to have a separate DME responsible for the oversight of each line of business.
- Where an LEC has a large project, they may choose to designate multiple DMEs, each to oversee and be responsible for specific parts of the project.
- Where an LEC has multiple ongoing projects, they may choose to designate multiple DMEs, each to oversee and be responsible for specific projects.
- Where an LEC employs multiple MEs, the LEC may choose to designate all or several individual MEs as DMEs to share in the responsibility and oversight of electrical work on behalf of the business.

DME MUST BE ACTIVELY EMPLOYED BY THE LEC

It is important to be aware that subsection 7(1) of the Regulation [page 67] specifically requires that the DME be actively employed by the LEC and not through an arrangement as an independent contractor. Subsection 4(3) of the Regulation [page 66] states that an LEC shall not designate an ME if the designation will result in the ME acting as a DME on behalf of more than one LEC at the same time.

An LEC is required to notify ESA if they lose a DME.

Upon notifying ESA's Director of Licensing of the loss of their last (only) DME, an LEC may continue to operate without any DME for a period of 60 days after the loss in order to find and employ a replacement DME; upon written application to ESA's Director of Licensing, the LEC may be granted up to an additional 60-day search period.

LOSS OF A DME DURING THE CURRENCY OF A LICENCE

Section 22 of the Regulation [page 72] requires an LEC to notify ESA of any changes to information, such as a loss or departure of a DME, during the currency of their licence within 5 business days of the occurrence, regardless of the number of DMEs the LEC employs.

Although the Regulation requires an LEC to have a minimum of one DME employed at all times, in circumstances where an LEC had only one DME and experiences a loss of that DME, the LEC will be permitted to continue to operate for a period of 60 calendar days after the date of the loss or departure of their last (only) DME in order to search for and designate a replacement DME, if they have notified ESA's Director of Licensing within 5 business days of the occurrence. The LEC is also required to notify ESA when a new DME has been employed and the new DME is required to complete an Acknowledgement of Responsibility form and submit it to ESA.

Prior to the expiry of the initial 60-day search period, an LEC may apply for an extension of time by way of a written request to ESA's Director of Licensing. The Director may grant up to an additional 60 calendar days on being satisfied that the LEC has made all reasonable efforts to employ a new DME during the first 60-day period; and it is likely that the LEC will be able to employ a new DME within the period of the extension.

Where an LEC fails to employ at least one DME, either within the initial 60-day period or within a granted extension period, the LEC must immediately cease to operate the business for which the EC licence was granted until such time as a DME has been employed and the LEC has notified ESA of the new designation.

Refer to subsections 14(2) through to (6) of the Regulation [page 70].

Forms for notifying ESA of the loss, departure or new designation of a DME can be found on ESA's website at www.esasafe.com/licensing or by calling ESA at 1-877-372-7233.

A LEC must immediately cease to operate if they fail to employ a new DME within the initial 60-day search period or extension period, if granted; and is not permitted to resume operations until a new DME has been employed and ESA has been notified.

Sub-contractors are required to hold an EC licence if performing electrical work covered by the OESC and licensing regulation.

LECs should ensure that the sub-contractors they hire have an EC licence if required by the Regulation.

III) SUB-CONTRACTING ELECTRICAL WORK

Examples of contracting businesses that may be permitted to undertake limited electrical work without an EC licence include; work done by authorized persons within the scope of practice of a refrigeration and air conditioning systems mechanic or a sprinkler and fire protection installer.

Refer to subsection 2.2 of this Guideline [page 7] for more information relating to licensing exemptions.

The LEC who holds the electrical permit for a jobsite is responsible and liable for all aspects of the electrical work being carried out, including work performed by a sub-contractor, unless the sub-contractor has taken out a permit for the electrical work they are performing.

The practice of sub-contracting is complex and many of the legal requirements extend beyond the scope of the contractor licensing legislation. LECs need to ensure they are familiar with all laws that apply when sub-contracting electrical work.

The sections below describe the legal requirements established in the Electricity Act, Licensing Regulation and OESC pertaining to the sub-contracting of electrical work.

SUB-CONTRACTORS MUST BE LICENSED ACCORDINGLY

Subsection 113.2(1) of the Electricity Act [page 43] and section 3 of the Regulation [page 66] requires any person operating a contracting business that is proposing to carry out or is engaged in carrying out electrical work to hold an EC licence in accordance with the Regulation.

Therefore, a person with a contracting business to whom electrical work has been subcontracted is required to have an EC licence in order to undertake the work, provided the work is not exempt by section 2 of the Regulation [page 65].

RESPONSIBILITY AND LIABILITY FOR THE ELECTRICAL WORK

The LEC who holds the electrical permit for a jobsite is responsible and will be held liable by ESA for all aspects of the electrical work being carried out. This would include the electrical work being performed by a sub-contractor unless the sub-contractor has taken out their own permit for the portion of electrical work that they are responsible for.

The LEC holding the permit will also be held accountable for matters relating to consumer protection such as having the contractual agreement with the customer, issuing the invoice for the electrical work, as well as being held accountable for remedying any defects identified with the electrical installation, regardless of whether they were created by the sub-contractor working under the LEC's permit.

It's important to also be aware that an LEC is prohibited from taking out electrical permits for unlicensed persons or businesses, or allowing unlicensed persons or businesses to operate under his/her EC Licence.

The failure to follow any of these requirements could result in an LEC, including a sub-contractor, being found in non-compliance with the legislation which could result in disciplinary action or, in some cases, prosecution. Refer to section 5 of this Guideline [page 29] for more information on the reasons a licence may be refused, suspended or revoked.

2.4 ADMINISTRATIVE REQUIREMENTS AND CONDITIONS

Sections 17 to 24 of the Regulation [page 73] set out a number of administrative requirements that are conditions of an EC licence. These are important requirements for ensuring that the EC licence remains in good standing and that customers and the general public can be confident that they are hiring an electrical contractor that is qualified and licensed.

To ensure a licence is in good standing, appointed ESA staff and Inspectors have the authority to verify that LECs are satisfying the conditions and requirements of their licence.

I) BUSINESS NAME

A LEC is only permitted to conduct business in the name(s) that are indicated on their EC licence certificate issued by ESA.

Where a business has more than one legal name, such as a numbered company that also uses an operating name, this information and supporting documentation must be submitted at the time of application so that all legal operating names can be listed on the EC licence.

All names under which a LEC operates must be indicated on their ESA issued EC licence certificate.

II) LICENCE POSTING AND DISPLAY REQUIREMENTS

A LEC is required to prominently post their EC licence at their principal place of business and to post a copy at any other location from which they carry on business.

LICENCE CERTIFICATE TO BE PROMINENTLY POSTED AT PLACE OF BUSINESS

A LEC is required to post their EC licence at their principal place of business in a prominent location where the public is likely to see it. If an LEC has more than one location from which they carry on business, a copy of the EC licence must also be prominently posted at each location.

LICENCE NUMBER REQUIRED ON ALL CORRESPONDENCE

The Regulation requires an LEC to prominently display their EC licence number in all correspondence, contracts and advertisements, on business vehicles and, generally, in all situations where they are communicating with the public.

Examples of correspondence include; business cards, invoices, quotes, estimates, receipts, letters, websites, etc.

A LEC is required to display their EC licence number in all communications with the public; including correspondence, contracts, advertisements, and on business vehicles.

LICENCE NUMBER REQUIRED ON BUSINESS VEHICLES

The Regulation also requires an LEC to have their EC licence number posted on their business vehicles.

ESA has established the following guidelines for the display (placement) of the LEC's licence number on business vehicles:

- Minimum size is one inch high.
- Must be in either black or white lettering so that the licence number is easily visible.
- Can be placed either on the back of the vehicle or on both sides.
- Must say ECRA/ESA Lic or ECRA/ESA before the number unless the ECRA/ESA Logo is incorporated into the design.
- The name of the company should also be displayed on the vehicle.
- If the name of the company does not appear on the vehicle then the ECRA/ESA Logo may not be used.

For further guidelines relating to the display and placement of the EC licence number on business vehicles, the usage of the ECRA/ESA Logo, or for copies of approved logos, visit www.esasafe.com/licensing.

ESA recognizes that a newly licensed EC will require a period of time in order to meet the posting and display requirements, thus ESA has granted a 90-day period from the date the EC licence is issued to be in compliance with these requirements.

III) MAINTAINING RECORDS

The Regulation requires an LEC to retain and maintain certain records associated with their EC licence, this includes the following:

APPLICATION INFORMATION

An electrical contractor is required to keep every document provided in the initial application or renewal of the EC licence until the expiry of the licence or renewal.

LIST OF DMES

A LEC must keep a record of each DME at their company. The record must include the name of the DME, the date on which the designation was made, the period of time for which the designation is effective, and the scope of designation as it relates to the responsibilities prescribed by section 6 of the Regulation [page 66].

A LEC is required to notify ESA of any loss or departure of DMES within 5 business days of the occurrence, as well as promptly notify ESA of any newly designated DMES.

A LEC is required to keep records of all DMES; including their name, the date and period of time for which the designation is effective and the scope of designation relating to the responsibilities in section 6 of the Regulation [page 66].

LECs must also retain a copy of all documents provided to ESA as part of the application or renewal of their licence.

IV) REQUIREMENT TO NOTIFY ESA

A LEC must notify ESA within 5 business days in the event that any information changes from their application or renewal.

This includes:

- address or phone number
- business name or business structure
- company owners or principle officers
- insurance coverage or WSIB account number
- loss or change in primary electrical trade CofQ holder
- loss or change of DME

LECs are required to keep ESA informed about changes to information related to their EC licence. Providing notice about key changes is a legal requirement under the Regulation that must be adhered to within specified timeframes. Failure to do so could result in the LEC being in breach of the legislation which could result in disciplinary action. Refer to section 5 of this Guideline [page 29] for more information on the reasons a licence may be refused, suspended or revoked.

NOTICE OF CHANGES TO INFORMATION

A LEC is required to notify ESA of any change to the information provided on the application or renewal of licence application form within 5 business days of the change.

This requirement includes any change to licence information such as: address and/or contact information; business registration; business name; business ownership; business structure where the authorizing principles change; insurance provider; insurance coverage; number of electrical trade employees; WSIB account number; electrical trade certificate holder for the company; change of DME; or the death of an owner.

Notice of Change to Information forms are available on ESA's website at www.esasafe.com/licensing or by calling ESA at 1-877-372-7233.

NOTICE OF FAILURE TO MEET LICENCE REQUIREMENTS

If at any time during the course of the validity period of the licence, the LEC no longer meets any of the licence requirements as set out in sections 8 of the Regulation [page 67]; such as failing to maintain the required liability insurance, failing to be registered with WSIB as required, or is in default with business taxes or money owing ESA; they must immediately notify ESA's Director of Licensing and must cease to operate until such time as the Director is satisfied that the LEC once again meets the necessary requirements for being issued a licence.

NOTICE OF LOSS OF DME

Despite the above section, if at any time during the course of the validity period of the licence, the LEC no longer meets the requirement to employ at least one DME, notification must be provided to ESA within 5 business days of the occurrence, upon which the LEC will be granted 60 calendar days to continue to operate in order to try and meet the DME requirement, before they will be required to cease to operate. Refer to page 12 of this Guideline for detailed information beyond the notification requirements relating to the Loss of a DME.

V) RETURN OF LICENCE

When an electrical contractor decides to close their business, retire or otherwise cease operations, they are required to return their EC licence certificate to ESA as it remains the property of ESA.

Additionally, the EC licence certificate must be returned to ESA within 5 business days of it being suspended or revoked; or having expired – unless the intent is to renew the expired EC licence. Refer to subsection 4.1 of this Guideline [page 28] for information on renewing an expired licence.

For information on how to return a licence, please contact ESA at 1-877-372-7233.

A LEC must immediately notify ESA in the event that they no longer meet any of the requirements for holding an EC licence and must immediately cease to operate until the necessary requirements are met.

This includes:

- Not having the required liability insurance.
- Not being registered with WSIB.
- Being in default with arrangements to pay any business taxes.
- Being in default with arrangements to pay any money owing to ESA.

3. Master Electrician (ME) LICENCE

Any person who plans on assuming the responsibilities for overseeing the electrical work carried out on behalf of an electrical contractor must obtain an ME licence issued by ESA and be designated as a DME by the LEC.

Information on the application and eligibility requirements for an ME licence, including the ME exam requirements, can be found on ESA's website at www.esasafe.com/licensing or by calling ESA at 1-877-372-7233.

Subsections 4(2) and 4(3) of the Regulation [page 66] define that a prerequisite for obtaining an EC licence includes the requirement to employ at least one individual with an ME licence who has been designated with the responsibilities defined in section 6 of the Regulation [page 66] for overseeing the electrical work carried out on behalf of the electrical contractor.

In the case of a sole proprietor and for most small electrical contracting businesses, this will mean that the owner must be licensed as both the Designated Master Electrician (DME) and the Licensed Electrical Contractor (LEC).

As part of the process for designating an ME, candidates are required to complete an Acknowledgement of Responsibility form that asks the designated person to affirm that they are actively employed by the LEC and that they assume the responsibilities that come with the position, such as the personal planning and direct supervision of electrical work, and ensuring applicable laws are followed.

The designation forms must be submitted at the time of applying for the EC licence or upon any changes of designation associated to a current EC licence. Designation and change forms can be found on ESA's website www.esasafe.com/licensing or by calling ESA at 1-877-372-7233.

3.1 DME MUST BE LICENSED

Section 5 of the Regulation [page 66] requires that any person who plans to assume the responsibilities set out in section 6 of the Regulation [page 66] for the carrying out of electrical work on behalf of an electrical contractor must have an ME licence issued by ESA prior to being designated by the LEC.

3.2 RESPONSIBILITIES OF A DME

The position of DME is an essential and mandatory requirement for LECs who engage in the electrical contracting business in Ontario. The Regulation places a great deal of importance on the role of a DME as a key person or persons within the LEC's business responsible to help ensure that supervisory, administrative, and safety requirements relating to the carrying out of electrical work are being followed by the LEC at all times.

The requirement for each LEC to have at least one DME helps to provide a standard level of qualification, expertise, and professionalism in the industry by ensuring that qualified experts are employed to oversee the planning, supervisory and safety-related responsibilities that are detailed in this section.

Where the owner of an LEC designates an employee as a DME, it is important to remain aware that both the LEC and the DME have specific legal duties and responsibilities for safety matters as well as other requirements set out under the Regulation. Effective communication and decision-making on legal and safety compliance matters should be established to ensure all parties can successfully fulfil their duties and responsibilities and that these are well understood by everyone within the business.

Two key responsibilities of a DME as established by section 6 of the Regulation [\[page 66\]](#) include:

- Personal planning and direct supervision of electrical work.
- Ensuring electrical work is carried out in accordance with applicable laws.

The position of DME is an essential and mandatory requirement for LECs who engage in the electrical contracting business in Ontario.

The DME is a key person within the LEC's business who is responsible to help ensure that supervisory, administrative and safety requirements relating to the carrying out of electrical work are being followed by the LEC at all times.

I) PERSONAL PLANNING AND DIRECT SUPERVISION OF ELECTRICAL WORK

Subsection 6(a) of the Regulation [page 67] states that the DME is responsible for the “personal planning and direct supervision” of electrical work carried out on behalf of the LEC. As the specific details of these duties are not further prescribed by the Regulation it is therefore the LEC’s and DME(s)’s responsibility to determine and put in place the practices that they deem appropriate to be able to fulfil this legal obligation.

Below are some examples of good industry practices that have been provided by established LECs. Note that these are only examples and not a prescriptive checklist; each LEC must have their own systems and plans in place to ensure these responsibilities are fulfilled and well understood within their own business.

EXAMPLES OF PERSONAL PLANNING

- Providing guidance and mentoring of electrical workers to enhance their skills and judgment in performing high quality and safe electrical work.
- Ensure the proper training and use of personal protective equipment.
- Communicating requirements for the isolation of energy, lockout tagout test before touch, and the limitations for working on energized electrical equipment for protection from arc flash and shock, as well as other related hazards and energized work permits.
- Ensuring compliance with the Ontario Electrical Safety Code;
- Overseeing of electrical installations performed by all electrical workers on a jobsite.
- Having management plans and plans for dealing with hazards and high risk activities.

- Ensuring agendas are set for weekly site meetings, track any issues identified and resolving those issues in a timely manner, e.g. safety issues or feedback from workers.
- Setting out daily, weekly & monthly 'to do lists' and ensure they are carried out in a timely manner.
- Keeping a log book outlining day-to-day activities, such as ordering materials, job site meetings, correspondence with site superintendent(s), discipline, incidents and near miss reporting.
- Ensuring all applicable permits are taken out correctly and any defects are corrected in a timely manner.
- Planning, coordinating and carrying out prescribed work as set out by the LEC.

EXAMPLES OF DIRECT SUPERVISION

- Maintaining an on-site presence, being available to respond to employee or customer needs, and keeping in regular communication with the job foreman or lead hand as appropriate.
- Ensuring all workers are qualified to complete the job at hand and ensuring all training and safety certificates are up to date.
- Monitoring the execution of activities to ensure work is being carried out in a manner so that consumers and workers are protected and safe from harm.
- Tracking and maintaining all records such as employee safety training, man hours, expenditures, job materials to ensure uniformity throughout the project, and other records that show appropriate due diligence.
- Having knowledge of or access to the records pertaining to all electrical work being undertaken by the LEC up to and including 'his/her' LEC designated DME responsibilities.

Additional guidance on how to maintain a health and safety focused Internal Responsibility System can be found on a number of agency websites, including:

- Ministry of Labour

II) ENSURE ELECTRICAL WORK IS CARRIED OUT IN ACCORDANCE WITH APPLICABLE LAW

In addition to the LEC, a DME also has responsibilities for ensuring that the electrical work being carried out on behalf of the LEC is being carried out in accordance with specific laws relating to electrical safety, health and safety, and consumer protection.

Subsection 6(b) of the Regulation [page 67] sets out that the DME has responsibilities on behalf of the electrical contractor for ensuring that the electrical work is carried out in accordance with applicable law, including the OESC, and the laws relating to health and safety and consumer protection such as:

- Ontario Electrical Safety Code
- Electricity Act, 1998 Part VIII
- Ontario Regulation 570/05 (Licensing of Electrical Contractors and Master Electricians)
- Building Opportunities in the Skilled Trades Act, 2021 and associated regulations
- Workplace Safety and Insurance Act and associated regulations
- Occupational Health and Safety Act and associated regulations
- Consumer Protection Act and associated regulations

These and other laws can be found online at www.e-laws.gov.on.ca.

While the DME has a responsibility for ensuring that electrical work is being carried out in accordance with applicable laws as noted above, subsection 4(1) of the Regulation [page 66] sets out that the LEC has a responsibility for also ensuring that the electrical work carried out on the electrical contractor's behalf is carried out in accordance with all applicable laws, including those noted above, as well as laws relating to employment standards, and business tax and business practices.

Refer to subsection 2.3 of this Guideline [page 9] for more information on the duties of an LEC.

3.3 PROHIBITIONS OF A LICENSED DME/ME

Section 7 of the Regulation [page 67] also places certain stipulations on when an ME can accept a designation from an electrical contractor and the type of electrical work that a DME/ME is permitted to carry out.

I) A DME MUST BE ACTIVELY EMPLOYED BY THE DESIGNATING LEC

It is important to be aware that subsection 7(1) of the Regulation [page 67] specifically prohibits an ME from accepting a designation unless they are actively employed by the designating electrical contractor.

Subsection 1(2) of the Regulation [page 65] states that “the use in this Regulation of “employ” and “employee” refers to the employer-employee relationship and not to an arrangement whereby a person engages an independent contractor to work on the person’s behalf.”

This requirement is consistent with the employer-employee relationship guidance provided by the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) and ESA must be assured that all DMEs fit within these definitions.

II) A DME CAN ONLY BE DESIGNATED TO ONE LEC AT A TIME

Subsection 7(2) of the Regulation [page 67] specifically prohibits an ME from accepting or acting in the capacity of a DME for more than one LEC at the same time. This requirement helps to ensure that the focus of the DME is exclusively on the safety and workers of a single electrical contracting business.

A DME must be actively employed by the designating LEC.

Some examples of practices that are not permitted include:

- A LEC designating an ME who is not an employee.
- A LEC designating an ME who is on contract as an independent contractor.
- A LEC designating an ME who is employed only on a part-time basis but has supervisory, planning and safety responsibilities for workers who are employed full-time.
- A LEC designating an ME who has no means or authority to actively carry out the DME responsibilities on behalf of the designating LEC.

A ME can only assume the responsibilities of a DME on behalf of one LEC at a time.

An ME licence does not authorize the holder to perform electrical work, he/she must also hold a valid electrical trade certificate of qualification for the type of electrical work being carried out.

III) A DME/ME CAN ONLY CARRY OUT ELECTRICAL WORK FOR WHICH THEY ARE CERTIFIED

Subsection 7(3) of the Regulation [page 67] strictly prohibits a DME/ME from carrying out electrical work unless he or she also holds a valid electrical trade certificate of qualification as required under the Building Opportunities in the Skilled Trades Act, 2021.

Although an individual may hold an ME licence from ESA, this does not authorize the individual to perform electrical work. The ability to undertake electrical work is directly tied to the scope of work permitted by the ME licence holder's underlying professional or trade qualification.

3.4 ADMINISTRATIVE REQUIREMENTS AND CONDITIONS

If asked, a DME is required to produce their ME licence while engaged in activities as a DME. A DME/ME must also retain a copy of all documents provided to ESA as part of their ME licence application or renewal.

Sections 26 to 30 of the Regulation [page 73] set out a number of administrative requirements that are conditions of a DME/ME licence. These are important requirements for ensuring that the licence remains in good standing and as proof that an individual is authorized to carry out the activities granted to a licensed DME/ME.

I) CARRYING OF LICENCE

A DME is required to carry the ESA issued licence while engaged in activities requiring the licence, for example when they are on a jobsite and providing oversight of the electrical installation.

II) MAINTAINING RECORDS

The Regulation requires a DME/ME to keep every document provided in the initial application or renewal of the licence until the expiry of the licence or renewal.

III) REQUIREMENTS TO NOTIFY ESA

NOTICE OF CHANGES TO INFORMATION

A DME/ME is required to notify ESA of any change to the information provided on the application or renewal of licence application form within 5 business days of the change.

This requirement includes any change to information such as: address and/or contact information, or a change in designation by or to an LEC.

Notice of Change to Information forms are available on ESA's website at www.esasafe.com/licensing or by calling ESA at 1-877-372-7233.

NOTICE OF FAILURE TO MEET LICENCE REQUIREMENTS

If at any time during the course of the validity period of the licence, an ME no longer meets the requirements of the licence; such as no longer having a valid trade certificate or professional qualification, or is in default of money owing ESA; they must immediately notify ESA's Director of Licensing. If the ME is also a DME for an LEC, they must immediately cease being the DME, until such times as they have met the licence requirements and notified ESA.

IV) RETURN OF LICENCE

A ME licence and ID card must be returned to ESA within 5 business days of it being suspended or revoked; or having expired – unless the intent is to renew the expired ME licence. Refer to subsection 4.1 [page 28] of this Guideline for information on renewing an expired licence.

For information on how to return a licence, please contact ESA at 1-877-372-7233.

A DME/ME must notify ESA within 5 business days in the event that any information changes from their licence application or renewal.

This includes items such as:

- address, email, or phone number changes
- a change in DME designation by or to an LEC

An ME must immediately notify ESA if they no longer meet the requirements of a licence, such as holding a valid trade certificate or professional qualification.

4. EXPIRY AND RENEWAL OF LICENCES

All licence holders should submit their licence renewal prior to the licence expiry date to ensure that they maintain a valid licence and to avoid any late penalties. Electrical Contractors cannot continue to operate with an expired licence. Master Electricians cannot act as a DME with an expired licence. A licence that has been expired for more than one year cannot be renewed. A new licence application must be submitted and all requirements as a new applicant must be met, including, in the case of a ME licence, the requirement to write and pass the Master Electrician exam.

A licence that has been expired for more than one year cannot be renewed. A new licence application must be submitted and all requirements as a new applicant must be met, including, in the case of a ME licence, the requirement to write and pass the Master Electrician exam.

A licence expires and ceases to be valid on the date indicated on the licence.

Section 15 of the Regulation [page 70] requires all licence holders to apply for the renewal of their licence in advance of the expiry date indicated on the licence. This is to provide ESA enough time to process the renewal and have the renewed licence back in the hands of the licence holder prior to the expiry of the current one.

It is important to note that an electrical contractor is not permitted to continue to operate their business with an expired EC licence; likewise, it is important to be aware that an expired ME licence will impact the validity of the LEC's licence that the ME has been designated to, as an ME with an expired licence is not permitted to carry out activities of being a DME on behalf of an LEC.

4.1 RENEWAL OF A LICENCE AFTER THE EXPIRY DATE

The Regulation outlines the rules regarding renewal of a licence after the expiry date:

- a) Renewals submitted within one year after the licence expiry date - Where a licence holder applies for a renewal prior to the expiry date on the licence, the licence holder shall submit the required information or documents, pay the renewal fee, and the late filing fee established by the Authority. The fee is calculated from the expiry date of the licence.

- b) Renewals made more than one year after the licence expiry date – Where an application for a renewal of a licence is submitted more than one year after the licence expiry date, it will be treated as a new application and all requirements relating to new applications apply, including the requirement for a Master Electrician to pass the qualifying Master Electrician examination within 12 months of submitting the application.

5. LICENCE REFUSAL, SUSPENSION OR REVOCATION

5.1 REASONS THE DIRECTOR MAY PROPOSE TO TAKE ACTION ON A LICENCE

ESA's Directors of Licensing are responsible, among other things, for authorizing the issuance of an EC or ME licence in accordance with the Act and Regulation. However, as specified in subsection 113.2(2) of Act [Appendix B], an ESA Director may also refuse, suspend or revoke a licence in a number of circumstances where the Director has reason to believe that an applicant or licence holder may not be meeting or is in breach of a legal requirement.

The Director may also impose a restriction, limitation or condition on a licence under certain circumstances as specified in subsection 113.2(3) of the Act [Appendix B]. Examples of restrictions, limitations and conditions include, but are not limited to:

- Requiring corrective action (such as requiring the licence holder to provide a documented plan on how inspection notification requirements will be adhered to).
- Requiring the licence holder to demonstrate professional knowledge through technical examinations (such as retaking the Master Electrician exam).
- Requiring the licence holder to take further education or courses related to the activities granted by the licence (such as an Ontario Electrical Safety Code (OESC) workshop)
- Monitoring licence holder conduct for a certain time period.

An ESA Director may refuse, suspend or revoke, or impose a restriction, limitation or condition on a licence in circumstances where the Director has reason to believe that a licence holder is not meeting or is in breach of a legal requirement.

Examples of what may constitute unlawful activities:

- Carrying out electrical work without a valid electrical trade certificate of qualification.
- Permitting unregistered apprentices or uncertified trades persons to undertake electrical work.
- Performing electrical installations contrary to the requirements of the OESC.
- Failure to maintain the safety of workers as required by health and safety laws.
- Failure to acknowledge the rights of consumers or follow applicable consumer protection laws.
- Continuing to operate with an expired licence.
- Falsifying inspection documentation.

The Director may also consider taking further compliance action, such as licence suspension, where the licence holder fails to meet a restriction, limitation or condition placed on the licence.

In assessing the level and type of compliance action(s) appropriate under the circumstances, each case will be assessed individually as each may be unique in its circumstances and/or its effect. However, consideration of a number of standard factors in each assessment will be undertaken to help identify similar situations, and ensure that similar approaches are undertaken in such cases. The factors routinely considered in assessing the appropriate compliance action(s) required include, but are not limited to:

- a) The seriousness of the offence.
- b) The risk to public safety.
- c) The extent of any injury to persons or damage to property.
- d) The past record of the offender and their willingness to comply.

The sections below describe the circumstances when a Director may propose to initiate action with respect to a licence.

I) CARRY OUT ACTIVITIES IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE LAW

A licence holder is expected to carry out all activities relating to their licence in accordance with applicable laws. Should the Director have reason to believe that a licence holder is not carrying out the activities of the licence in accordance with the law, the Director may propose to take action against the licence holder.

Section 4 of the Regulation [page 66] imposes a duty on LECs to ensure all electrical work is carried out in accordance with all applicable laws "including the Electrical Safety Code and the laws relating to health and safety, employment standards, consumer protection, business tax and business practices."

Likewise, section 6 of the Regulation [page 66] imposes a duty on DMEs to ensure applicable laws are followed on behalf of the LEC "including the Electrical Safety Code and the laws relating to health and safety and consumer protection."

Licence holders are expected to be aware of the requirements of safety laws and codes such as the Ontario Electrical Safety Code, the Occupational Health and Safety Act, the Building Opportunities in the Skilled Trades Act, 2021 and other work place and employment standards. The Director must remain satisfied that a licence holder operates within these and any other applicable safety laws.

The Regulation also states the need for LECs and DMEs to follow other laws that create consumer protection and establish business practice rules. One example is the Consumer Protection Act, 2002 (CPA) and regulations. The CPA establishes a framework requiring a fair and safe marketplace when it comes to consumer transactions. It sets out requirements that help to ensure consumers are not subject to ambiguities, misrepresentations, substitutions, unsolicited goods or services, or unfair business practices.

II) CARRY OUT ACTIVITIES SAFELY

A licence holder is expected to carry out all activities relating to their licence safely and in a manner that protects the health and safety of workers and the public. Should the Director have reason to believe that a licence holder is not carrying out the activities of their licence safely, the Director may propose to take action against the licence holder.

Section 4 and section 6 of the Regulation [pages 66 and 67] impose duties on the LEC and DME, respectively, to ensure that all electrical work carried out on behalf of the electrical contractor is carried out safely in accordance with the Electrical Safety Code and other rules relating to workplace and worker safety.

The province's safety system relies on the integrity and expertise of the electrical contracting profession. The use of electricity and electrical equipment can cause harm to people in the form of shocks, electrocutions, arc flashes, fires and significant property damage.

Examples of what may constitute unsafe activities:

- Unnecessarily working with energized equipment that poses a risk to safety for themselves, other workers, or the public.
- Failure to use proper personal protective equipment.
- Failure to follow lockout/tagout requirements.
- Repeated pattern of performing work that fails to conform to the OESC requirements or any incident where non-compliance is sufficiently serious to potentially cause harm to property and/or the public.
- Failure to take out all electrical permits and request inspections where required by the OESC.

Licence holders are expected to follow all safety laws; including the rules set out in the OESC, not just the technical rules for how an electrical installation is done, but also the administrative rules for taking out permits, applying for inspections where required, and reporting hazardous electrical incidents. Failing to follow these rules could result in electrical defects being left undetected and unrepaired, potentially resulting in serious harm to persons or property.

III) BASIC RESOURCES, TRAINING, EXPERIENCE, QUALIFICATIONS, SKILLS TO CARRY OUT ACTIVITIES

“Basic Resources” refers to such things as the minimum assets, supplies or possessions required for an LEC to safely and lawfully carry out his/her duties and the activities requiring a licence in order to protect workers and consumers.

A licence holder is expected to have the basic resources, training, experience, qualifications, and skills necessary to carry out the activities of the licence. Should the Director have reason to believe that a licence holder lacks any of these requirements, the Director may propose to take action against the licence holder.

The term “basic resources” refers to such things as the minimum assets, supplies or possessions required for an LEC to safely and lawfully carry out his/her duties and the activities requiring a licence in order to protect workers and consumers.

Examples of what may constitute lacking the basic resources:

- Evidence of a lack of basic administrative capabilities such as an inability to consistently follow required processes for permit application.
- Inability to provide workers with training and related materials, or minimum safety equipment.
- Evidence that the business is unable to carry out work obligations, is inadequately staffed, is financially negligent or has declared bankruptcy.

It is also expected that a licence holder has the required training, experience, qualifications and skills required to carry out the activities relating to the licence.

Examples of lacking the training, experience, qualifications, or skills that may be relevant to the Director:

- Not having or using proper personal protective equipment.
- Not having a working knowledge of the current rules of the electrical safety code and the regulations.
- Undertaking electrical work for which a licence holder is not qualified to do.
- Not holding or employing someone with a valid certificate or membership for the trade or profession with which the ME or EC licence was obtained.

IV) CONSUMER PROTECTION AND ACT WITH HONESTY AND INTEGRITY

Licence holders are expected to conduct themselves with honesty and integrity and to follow the laws and principles established for safeguarding consumers. Should the Director have reason to believe that a licence holder is not conducting activities in accordance with these principles, the Director may propose to take action against the licence holder.

Trust in the electrical contracting trade is established in part by businesses acting with honesty and integrity, and following the rules that protect consumers from harm.

Licence holders have a responsible role in our communities. They are invited into consumers' homes and businesses, their advice to consumers is trusted, and the professional reputation of the industry relies on public confidence in the honesty, integrity, and quality of business practices established by all licensed professionals.

Ontario laws provide a minimum standard of protection for consumers. It is important that licence holders know, respect and honour the basic legal rights of consumers as established in the Consumer Protection Act. The laws focus on practices considered to be unreasonable, misleading and unfair (including unreasonable pricing); what disclosures are necessary in order for consumers to have accurate and sufficient information (including pricing) to enter into contracts with informed consent; and what remedies are available when something goes wrong.

Examples of what may constitute not protecting consumers or failing to act with honesty and integrity:

- Charging a consumer for services not provided, or misrepresenting the need for a repair.
- Invoicing for original or new parts while installing inferior or different parts.
- Charging a consumer for permit fees when a permit was not taken out or not required.
- Taking advantage of a consumer in an emergency situation and/or charging prices that greatly exceed the price at which similar goods and services are readily available to like consumers.
- Refusing to report unsafe/unlicensed activity.

Additional information relating to consumer rights and the Consumer Protection Act can be found on the Ministry of Government and Consumer Services website www.sse.gov.on.ca/mcs/en/pages/default.aspx.

V) UNAUTHORIZED PERSONS CARRYING OUT ACTIVITIES THAT REQUIRE A LICENCE

Examples of what may constitute unauthorized persons carrying out electrical work:

- Substituting unqualified persons to perform electrical work such as general labourers in place of certified trade employees.
- An LEC taking out a permit for an unlicensed person or business in order for them to undertake electrical work without a licence.

A licence holder is not permitted to allow an unauthorized person to carry out activities requiring a licence. Should the Director have reason to believe that a licence holder permitted unauthorized persons to carry out activities requiring a licence, the Director may propose to take action against the licence holder.

Licence holders have a duty set out in subsections 4(1) and 6(b) of the Regulation [page 66 and 67] to ensure that all electrical work carried out on the LEC's behalf is carried out in accordance with applicable laws. This includes ensuring employees are qualified to carry out electrical work and that workers are in full compliance with the trade qualification requirements established through Skilled Trades Ontario.

A licence holder must ensure that they use only qualified persons or businesses to carry out electrical work on their behalf. Should an LEC choose to sub-contract electrical work they are responsible to make sure that the sub-contractor also holds an EC licence if performing electrical work that requires a licence according to the Regulation.

Work by unauthorized persons poses a potential risk to public and worker safety. It also undermines the professionalism of the industry and can harm the trust held by members of the public toward the profession.

VI) MEET LICENSING REQUIREMENTS AND COMPLY WITH RESTRICTIONS, LIMITATIONS OR CONDITIONS

Licence holders are expected to comply with all legal obligations for holding a licence. This includes ensuring that all licensing requirements are maintained during the currency of the licence as well as complying with any restrictions, limitations or conditions placed on a licence by the Director. Should the Director have reason to believe that a licence holder failed to meet or comply with a licence requirement, or a restriction, limitation, or condition imposed on a licence; the Director may propose to take action against the licence holder.

VII) LICENCE OBTAINED THROUGH MISREPRESENTATION OR FRAUD

Licence holders are expected to provide accurate and factual information and documentation. ESA's application and renewal forms require applicants and licence holders to attest that the information provided and contained within the application and renewal is accurate and truthful. Should the Director have reason to believe that a licence was obtained through misrepresentation or fraud, the Director may propose to take action against the licence holder.

5.2 APPEAL OF A DIRECTOR'S PROPOSAL TO REFUSE, SUSPEND OR REVOKE A LICENCE

I) NOTICE OF PROPOSAL (NOP) REQUIRED

In accordance with subsection 113.3(1) of Act [Appendix B], the Director is required to issue a Notice of Proposal (NOP), with written reasons, to a licence holder anytime he or she is considering actions of refusal, suspension, revocation, or the imposition of a condition, limitation, or restriction on a licence.

Examples of what may constitute a failure to meet or comply with a requirement, restriction, limitation or condition:

- An LEC not having a DME designated as required by the Regulation.
- A DME not actively employed by an LEC.
- An LEC not maintaining the required liability insurance.
- An LEC undertaking electrical work outside the scope of a licence limitation (e.g. A LEC limited to undertaking industrial work found to be performing residential wiring).

Examples of what may constitute obtaining a licence through misrepresentation or fraud:

- Including false or misleading information on a licence or renewal application.
- Providing false or altered documentation or certifications with a licence or renewal application.
- Designating an ME who is not actively employed by an LEC.

The Notice of Proposal affords the licence holder the right to an appeal and hearing of the matter, pursuant to subsection 113.4 of the Act [Appendix B], prior to the Director proceeding with the proposed action against the licence holder.

II) EXCEPTIONS – NOP NOT REQUIRED

A Notice of Proposal (NOP), with written reasons, will be issued to the licence holder by the ESA Director whenever he or she is considering action of refusal, suspension, or revocation of a licence.

A person named in a Notice has the right to appeal the proposal.

As defined in subsection 113.3(2) of the Act [Appendix B], there are certain circumstances where a Director is not required to issue a NOP prior to taking action against a licence holder.

a) Threat to Safety - section 113.5 of the Act [Appendix B]

The Director may “provisionally” (immediately) suspend or refuse a licence where the Director is of the opinion that by allowing the licence holder to continue to operate it would pose an immediate threat to public safety or the safety of any person.

The Director is required to give the licence holder Notice of the Provisional Suspension or Refusal (Notice). The licence holder is entitled to a hearing of the matter, however the licence holder is not permitted to continue to operate until after the hearing has been held and a final decision rendered.

b) Default in Payment – section 113.6 of the Act [Appendix B]

The Director may refuse to grant or to renew a licence or may suspend a licence, without giving notice or holding a hearing, if the licence holder is in default of the payment of a fee, an administrative penalty, a cost or other charge owing ESA; or is in default of payment of a fine imposed on conviction for an offence under the Act.

Upon providing proof to the Director that the licence holder is no longer in default of payment, the Director will grant or reinstate the licence.

An ESA Director is not required to issue a Notice of Proposal prior to taking action against a licence holder where there is deemed to be a threat to safety or where a licence holder is in default of a payment to ESA.

III) APPEAL AND RIGHT TO A HEARING

The appeals process is a formal hearing process whereby a person named in a NOP or Notice, if they choose, may file an appeal with the Director of Appeals within 15 business days of its issuance.

Requesting an appeal of the matter “stays” (postpones) the Director’s action against the licence holder until a decision has been rendered at the conclusion of the appeals process, except where there is deemed to be an immediate threat to safety in which case the Director may “provisionally” (immediately) suspend or refuse the licence. In such cases the licence holder is required to immediately cease to operate until after a hearing has been held and a decision rendered.

Should a licence holder not file an appeal of the NOP within the prescribed timeframe, the Director will be entitled to carry out the proposed action without holding a hearing of the matter.

There are three progressive steps available in the appeal process:

Step 1 – Appeal before the ESA Director

Step 2 – Appeal before the independent Review Panel

Step 3 – Appeal to Divisional Court

Further information on the licensing appeal process may be found on ESA’s website at www.esasafe.com/about-esa/appeals/.

Requesting an appeal of the matter “stays” (postpones) the Director’s action against the licence holder until a decision has been rendered at the conclusion of the appeals process, except where there is deemed to be an immediate threat to safety in which case the Director may “provisionally” suspend or refuse the licence. In such cases the licence holder is required to immediately cease to operate until after a hearing has been held and a decision rendered.

APPENDIX A – ORIGINS OF CONTRACTOR LICENSING IN ONTARIO

Prior to the enactment of Ontario Regulation 570/05 (Licensing of Electrical Contractors and Master Electricians), Ontario did not have a consistent province-wide system for licensing electrical contracting businesses. At the time, each municipality was responsible to establish the licensing criteria in their jurisdiction.

In 1991, the Electrical Contractors Association of Ontario (ECAO), with the support and participation of the Ontario Electrical League (OEL) and Ontario Hydro's former Electrical Inspection Division (later to become the Electrical Safety Authority), created the Electrical Contractor Registration Agency (ECRA).

ECRA's vision and dedicated efforts played a central role in promoting professionalism across the industry through the creation and administration of Master Electrician exams, courses, building municipal reciprocal recognition programs, and, ultimately, in supporting the case for province-wide standards.

With the provincial government's passage into law of Ontario Regulation 570/05 and updates to Part VIII of the Electricity Act, a province-wide licensing program has been in place since 2007. Provincial licensing helps to create a level-playing field that recognizes the professional qualifications of electricians, promotes the protection of consumers, and, most importantly, helps to protect the public, workers, and consumers from the potential dangers associated with electrical work.

The Electrical Safety Authority is responsible for administering the licensing of electrical contractors and Master Electricians in the Province of Ontario. ECRA continues to support the licensing program through their ongoing development of Master Electrician examinations and their role in developing and recommending guidelines and policies to ESA to strengthen the licensing of electrical contractors in the province.
