TIPS TO AVOID COUNTERFEIT ELECTRICAL PRODUCTS

Did you know an electrical product or piece of electrical equipment that is used, sold, displayed or advertised for sale in Ontario, must be approved by an accredited certification or inspection body?

Here are some tips to protect you and your family from unsafe counterfeit electrical products:

Only purchase electrical products from reputable sources and retail outlets.

Look for the approval mark of an accredited certification agency on electrical products.

Watch out for cheap or damaged products and packaging with typos – they are often counterfeit.

Always Hire a Licensed Electrical Contractor – they have the right expertise, equipment and training.

Report an unsafe electrical product to the Electrical Safety Authority.
